

GBK certified to ISO9001:2015 standard

GBK UK Christmas 2017 TechTIPS Newsletter:

As 2017 draws to its conclusion, we can look back at the year with strong sense of pride and accomplishment, but with a very strong sense of anticipation for what's to come in 2018

During 2017 the business has delivered on some major projects, including the recent uplift to the ISO 9001:2015 standard as well as the business relocation to the new premises. Included in the move was the project management of the building strip and total refurbishment.

We send our thanks to the partners who helped us deliver these goals, their efforts were central.

In 2018 we shall have a new website developed, major new product lines added, realignment of the business and how it faces both current and new markets which will focus around the new website which is currently being developed.

We send our wishes out to all for a happy, peaceful and loving Christmas & New Year.
